

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PUBLISHER'S NOTE

P. S. ALLEN began to work on his edition of Erasmus' correspondence in 1893 and the first volume was published in 1906. He died in 1933 with the edition more than half complete. His wife, the late Mrs. H. M. Allen, and his friend, Professor Garrod, continued the work; and the last volume of the text, Volume XI, appeared in 1947. Only the index was lacking to complete the great task which Allen had undertaken more than half a century before.

No one but Allen himself could have made an index worthy of his author and of his own magisterial editing. It would have been an exhaustive Name and Subject Index to both text and notes, and it would have dealt with Erasmus' language and Latinity, his syntax and his style, and many another topic of which Allen's long service to Erasmus had given him a unique knowledge.

Even though an index on this scale was no longer possible Mrs. Allen, Professor Garrod, and the Delegates of the Clarendon Press were all agreed that a serviceable index to the whole edition should none the less be provided and after the publication of Volume XI Miss M. Alford was asked to compile one. This she set about doing but, in spite of her heroic labours, the work was far from complete at her death in 1951.

Her place was taken by Miss Barbara Flower who planned the index afresh and brought to the new start great qualities of zest and scholarship. She had just completed the index in slips when, in 1955, she died suddenly and prematurely, a loss not only to the edition but to the world of classical learning. Fortunately, her friend and fellow scholar, Miss Elisabeth Rosenbaum, undertook to arrange and prepare the Index as Miss Flower had drafted it and to see it through the Press. And so at last the great edition may be said to be complete. In the course of compilation many obligations to persons were no doubt incurred which Miss Alford or Miss Flower would have been zealous to acknowledge. It is hoped that the persons concerned will forgive the absence of detailed acknowledgement which the deaths of these editors made inevitable, but the publishers would not like to let the occasion pass without mention of what their records make apparent, the constant assistance and support in the project rendered by the Director and Staff of the Warburg Institute.

This volume contains three separate indexes: Index I, the Index of Correspondents and Some Biographical Notices; Index II, the Index of Erasmus' Writings; and Index III, the General Index.

The Index of Correspondents repeats and consolidates what is already in the Index of Correspondents at the end of each volume. It is intended to supply a rapid means of establishing whether a given person was in correspondence with Erasmus. Some of the biographical matter in this index is supplementary to that contained in the General Index and in such cases an asterisk is given before the appropriate entry in the General Index.

The Index of Erasmus' Writings is subdivided into (A) Original Works and (B) Editions, Translations, and Prefaces, and deals with any mention of these that may occur in the letters. Brackets are used to indicate works unfinished or unpublished. In an attempt to preserve the natural order of words both here and in the General Index bold type has been used for important words which in the more usual kind of index would have begun the sub-headings.

The General Index is one of both subjects and names but these have not been separately alphabetized. An asterisk before an entry indicates cross-reference to Index I for supplementary information.

It has proved impossible to make cross-referencing exhaustive and the reader's search for the more elusive particulars may have to be pursued in several different places. Some other necessary limitations may be touched upon. Index III contains no general biographical entry for Erasmus himself: biographical facts about him should be sought under the appropriate headings: for example, death, illegitimacy, journeys, names, &c. His place of residence at different times can be ascertained from the Table of Letters at the beginning of each volume. Places visited by him but from which no letters have been dated are recorded in the Indexes from Volume II onwards.

Other biographical references to Erasmus will be found under the names of the persons and places with which they are connected. Some entries will be found for Erasmus' use of Latin and Greek Termini but these are arbitrarily selected and make no claims to being complete.

Index III includes the names of all medieval persons mentioned, all humanists and contemporaries of Erasmus, and all Saints. Names from classical antiquity, fictional characters, and mythological figures are included only where they are substantially discussed. It was considered impracticable to index all authors quoted.

Where a person is referred to by a title only in the text—for example, Episcopus, without the see being mentioned—reference is usually given to page and line, the line reference in subscript figures. But where Allen's note gives the full name, as a rule page references only are given.

Institutions such as Colleges, Societies, Universities, Abbeys, and so on are normally to be found under the place-name of the town with which they are associated.

The Index is primarily to the text. It contains references to Allen's Prefaces and Notes only where these are strictly relevant.

In spite of its inevitable shortcomings the publishers hope that users of this volume will find it a valuable aid in their approach to the main work.

Si qua te capit admiratio, candide lector, cur tanti operis non sit index maior, quum tamen in parvos etiam libellos nonnulli magnos elenchos scribere soleant: non temere id evenisse scias . . . ridiculum duximus, omnia in elenchum conferre . . . quis nescit quantum inde acervum possit annotare, quæ tamen longe rectius ex ipso libro petas? Proinde nos summis rerum capitibus, inter legendum tumultuarie, non tamen oscitanter, observatis indicatisque, nolumus studiosum lectorem sua fraudare industria.

(From the Preface to the Index of the Froben 1540 edition of Erasmus' Works.)

INDEX I

INDEX OF CORRESPONDENTS AND SOME BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICES

The figures in heavy type indicate letters of Erasmus, those in smaller type letters written to him, and a few others. The figures following Roman numerals denote pages.
